TRIP A BIG SUCCESS

Lecture Train from University of Illinois Draws Large Crowds - Makes Football Felony

Eastern Intercollegiate Track and Field Championships to be Held on Soldiers Field at Harvard

The men from the Agricultural College of the University of Illinois who conducted the lectures on the "Seed and Soil Special," recently run through Illinois, report a most successful trip. Over fifteen hundred miles of road was traversed and lectures given before an average of two thousand people a day. The farmers, railroad people and lecturers are all so well pleased with the experience that it will be repeated in the near future.

A bill absolutely prohibiting football and making a second offense punishable as a felony, was introduced in the Nebraska Legislature this week.

The annual intercollegiate track and field championships will be held this year under the auspices of Harvard University, at Soldiers Field, Cambridge, according to the recent decision of the executive and advisory committee of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

Mr. Bartley Cushing, who is acting as coach for the Blackfriars, has announced the cast for the opera, "The King's Kalendar Keeper." This selection is by no means permanent, being subject to changes, if better material is found than appears in the present cast. The names of those who will be in the choruses, will be announced after a few more tryouts have been taken. The following is the cast as selected by Mr. Cushing:

Augustus the 57th	Dixon

Mr. Cushing has announced that a meeting of the cast will be held Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Reynolds Club. Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock he wishes to meet all persons who expect to try to try for the choruses.

Harold Swift will meet all the members of the cast Monday at 11 o'clock, in THE DAILY MAROON office for assigning their various parts.

JUNIOR DEAN TO MARRY

Engagement of Alexander Smith to Southerner Announced Today—Wedding Soon

The engagement of Professor Alexander Smith, of the department of Chemistry, to Mrs. J. E. Ludden is announced today. Mrs. Ludden, whose maiden name was Sara Bowles, is the widow of the late James E. Ludden and the only daughter of Mr. William Bowles, Jr., cotton broker, of 644 Mississippi Ave., Memphis Tenn.

Dr. Smith is associate professor of general chemistry at the University and also a dean in the Junior colleges. He took his S. B. at the University of Edinburgh in 1886, and his Ph. D. at the University of Munich in 1889. He was assistant in Chemistry in Edinburgh, 1889-90; and professor of Chemistry and Mineralogy at Wabash college, 1890-4. Dr. Smith came to Chicago in 1902.

The wedding is to take place at Grace church, Memphis, on Feb. 16th, and the service will be conducted by the Rector, Mr. Allison. Because of the recent death of Mrs. Ludden's grandfather no guests have been invited formally.

Mr. Smith has taken an apartment in the "Elsmere," 5701 Monroe Ave., for the remainder of the college year.

BASKET BALL WITH BELOIT

First Intercollegiate Game For University Team—Good Attendance Desired

Tomorrow night at 7:45 o'clock the first regular basket ball game of the season will begin with the Beloit five as opponents. This is not only the first game of the year but it is almost the first big game ever played with a prominent western school in basket ball. With an almost new team and with a new captain this is a crucial test of the sport of the University.

Previous to last year, basket ball had never been played here, with the exceptions of a few games in 1893 and 1894. This year an effort has been made to get together a regular Varsity team that would be able to play other members of the Big Nine. Several dates have been arranged and if the University only supports the team a successful season is assured. The game tomorrow night will be the first test.

If Catlin plays he will be at center, Brown going to guard, Owens will then go forward. McKeag and Hunt will be seen at their respective positions, forward and guard.

Phi Beta Kappa Dinner To-Night

About fifty members of the Beta Chapter of Illinois will have a banquet at 7 o'clock this evening in Hutchinson Hall. The banquet is given purely with a social motive and no important business will be transacted afterwards. George S. Goodspeed, president of the local chapter, will preside. No program has been made and whatever speeches will be delivered, will be extemporaneous.

TRYOUT FOR ILLINOIS MEET

All Men Urged to Compete—Coach Moloney Satisfied with Work—To be Run Coincident with Basketball Game

The track team tryout to be held tomorrow night in connection with the Varsity basketball game with Beloit, will be for all the men who have registered for track or field athletics. The showing of the men in this tryout will determine the team that will go to Illinois on February 11, and every man, regardless of previous work, is expected to compete.

Coach Maloney expressed himself as satisfied with the work so far. He said: "This meet will give us the first chance to get a definite idea of what kind of material will represent Chicago in track work this season. From what I have been able to see so far, I should say that the prospects are encouraging."

The meet will take place between the halves of the basketball game, which will start promptly at 7:45. The small admission fee of twenty five cents will be charged. The coaches hope that the students will take advantage of this first opportunity to see what kind of a team Chicago is to have, and turn out in force to urge the men to their best.

PEABODY WINS POLE VAULT

Six men from University in First Regiment Track Meet

In the first Regiment track meet last night, W. H. Peabody, a law student in the University, and captain of the 1903 Williams football team, won the pole vault at ten feet eight inches, a good mark for indoor vaulting. It was a handicap event and Peabody was scratch man. Wilkins, the vaulter from Lewis Institute intended to compete but at the last moment Coach Moloney decided to keep him out. Noll and Russell competed in the shot-put but their handicaps were too small to put them in the class with the First Regiment and Y. M. C. A. stars. Pitman and Kruger represented the University in the mile but on account of their inexperience in competition they misjudged their pace and did not place. Brown competed in the hurdles and took third in his heat, but did not place in the finals.

ELLSWORTH MAY TURN PRO

Former Maroon Pitcher and Football Player to be Given Tryout with Denver

Ex-captain "Shorty" Ellsworth, of the 1903 football team is to be given a chance to pitch in the Western League this year. Captain "Bill" Everitt of the Denver team has asked Ellsworth to join the team in its spring practice. Ellsworth is at present the general athletic director of the Colorado School of Mines where he turned out a championship football team last fall. Ellsworth was one of the best centers ever in the University and for the last three springs was one of the mainstays of the baseball team.

EMERGENCE OF GODS

Subject of Interesting Lecture Delivered by Professor George F. Moore in Haskell Yesterday

Religious Conceptions Derived From Realizations of World and Its Workings - Emergence From Evolution

Thursday at 4:30 in the assembly room of Haskell, Professor George Foote Moore, Ph. D., D. D., delivered the second of the Haskell lectures on the subject, "The Emergence of Gods." The next number of the course will be held next Wednesday and will be on the subject, "The Principal Factor in the Evolution of Religion." In part Dr. Moore said:

"Religious conceptions are primarily derived from what man realizes of the world and its working. In the first place, acts which seemed to be effective in propitiating the wrath of the elements were repeated. What a man feels, believes, and does depends on what idea he has of the beyond. The origin of the first religious conceptions, vague and indefinite as they were, lay in what primeval man saw of the powers which were manifest.

"All the notions that a man can form are a product of his imagination, although none the less real to him. This assumed that the visible powers of nature had will and life: innumerable gods were in everything. A more definite idea of the soul was that it was a tenuous, vapor-like double of the body, capable of materialization, and able to leave the body. Living experience endowed all active energies with the characteristics of his own soul. By this hypothesis, fever, madness, heroic valour, and the like, were considered entities. Fever was a thing which actually got into a man's body and burned. An invisible force producing a tangible result was considered a soul.

"When the idea of spirits became distinct from the soul idea they were also imagined in terms of man. To the savage as well as the primitive man, these spirits were not incommensurably greater than himself. According to the law of self-preservation, he fought against the evil spirits by means of alliances with good ones.

"Above this horde of spirits are those who have greater and more varied power. These gods belong to communities, but are not proprietary, as they are devoted to common and not individual interests. Those which are more closely related to the life of the community, and hence more regularly invoked, gradually became more important. Spirits are not promoted to gods on account of their nature, but on account of the universality of dependence upon them. The character of the gods is the result of the growing needs and higher civilization of man. In the degree as a god is thought able to avenge neglect by some catastrophe, is he worshipped. Finally, confidence and trust grows, and gratitude is aroused. The effect of the development of society upon religion cannot be overestimated.

"The emergence of gods is the result this evolution of the spirit idea, and to the ever increasing confidence of man in the efficacy of the spirits to do what is needed. Because of the importance of this element of trust, it is an epoch when faith in the gods began to precede faith in the fetish. As the new faith does not crowd out the old, the lower forms mingle with the higher. The polydemonism of many men at the present time is a result of this principle."

Southern Club Meeting

There will be a meeting of the Southern Club next Thursday night, February 2. All Southerners are cordially invited.

EDITORIALS

A SPECIAL midwinter advertising number of THE DAILY MAROON is issued today. Extra advertising is being carried at this time in preparation for an increase in the size of the paper.

THE basketball game with Beloit and the Varsity tryout meet tomorrow night in Bartlett gymnasium will open the season of indoor winter sports at the University. The students will be glad of the opportunity to see again first-class athletic contests. The period from the close of the football season until the opening of the track and basketball schedules is a dull one, and the men who perform tomorrow night will doubtless be greeted with enthusiasm by a good gallery.

The Women's Athletic Association will give their annual dinner for the women of the Women's University next Tuesday evening in Hutchinson Hall. This custom of giving annual dinners for the women was begun last year, and proved by the large attendance that it was distinctly desired by all concerned. It affords the best opportunity of the year for the women to get together and show their loyalty to their Alma Mater. Only in such gatherings as these can they feel the bond of sympathy that should unite them with the University and its interests. Arrangements have been made this year to accommodate a much larger number of guests than last year. It is to be hoped that in view of this fact every woman in the University will be present at the dinner.

The University Dramatic Club will give its Tenth Annual Performance on Friday, Feb. 3rd, in Mandel Hall. The proceeds are to be devoted to charity,—a charity in which the University has an especial interest,—the University Settlement. The needs of this work are many. Workers are in demand, and funds are constantly required. The press of work, and the distance from the Settlement, prevent many of the University students from giving their time and services to its aid, but the Dramatic Club production affords a way to help in another manner by reinforcing a sadly over-taxed treasury.

CHI PSI BOWLER PROTESTED

Varnell Claimed to be Ineligible in Fraternity League—Alpha Delta Wins

A new development has arisen in the protest of George M. Varnell of the Chi Psi team, which threatens to considerably change the bowling situation. The protest was made on the ground that Varnell is not registered in the University this quarter, and so is ineligible to compete on a fraternity team. No fraternity man is considered an active member of a local chapter unless he is actually in the University, and only local chapters of national fraternities are admitted to the league. The Rules Committee will meet tomorrow at one o'clock in the Reynolds Club to act on the protest. The captain of Chi Psi team and all the officers of the league are requested to be present.

The Chi Psi team has been considered a favorite in the race for the championship, and is easily at the head of its section. The barring of the Chi Psi team would mean that Alpha Tau Omega would win out in Section I. Varnell has held the "anchor" position on his team, and has an excellent chance to win the cup offered by THE DAILY MAROON for the highest individual average for the season.

Alpha Delta Phi defeated Sigma Alpha Epsilon yesterday in the final preliminary match for both teams, and so won the championship of Section II.

The scores follow.
